

PC Pickles Picks Up the Barrow for the Hospice

PC Damieon Pickles has been busy raising money to fund his Kilimanjaro Expedition in February 2018, which will in turn will help raise money for the Hospice! So far PC Pickles has taken on numerous marathons under his running name The Barrowman, where he does his runs with his trusty wheelbarrow. People have been throwing in change to help fund his trip. He isn't far off reaching what he needs, so now running season is coming back in he will be immersing himself back in the running game.

The 10 day Kilimanjaro Expedition will see PC Pickles trek through the African Jungle full of wildlife, then over the moonscape terrain and glaciers reaching the summit of Africa's highest peak at 5895 metres! If this sounds like a challenge you would be up for too, why not give us a call on 0161 624 9984 and speak to a member of the fundraising team?

Not only is PC Pickles taking on a once in a life time challenge to raise funds for the Hospice doing the Kilimanjaro Expedition he is also partaking in the Coast to Coast event in 2017. This consists of a 140 mile relay taking 48 hours with 8 breaks (so they don't need to run through the night).

So if you see PC Pickles around with his wheelbarrow show your love and chuck in some change!
